

Anthony Gorman

Anthony's at Place

AFTER five years with Ken Guy Real Estate, Anthony Gorman has taken the opportunity to expand the multi-award winning Place brand into the central Sunshine Coast with a new franchise office set to open in Mooloolaba later this year.

"The chance to be at the helm of the most dynamic brand in Queensland real estate was too exciting not to take up," he said, "and I know that our present and future customers will be delighted with the outstanding customer serviced focused approach to doing business that has been absent from the industry."

"I'll still keep my personal focus on prestige property but I'm assembling a team of like minded professionals to fill all area's across the coast. We aim to be the best, not the biggest and this is an approach that I'm passionate about."

Sign signals a change in the times

THERE'S lots of intrigue around the Sunshine Coast with the www.twomates.com.au marketing campaign that has started.

As well as a banner flying from the building along Nicklin Way, there is an interesting website and a string of media advertising.

We are not too sure what it's all about but we can tell you local property identities Ben Wilson and Sam Archer are heavily involved.

Recent new signage on the new office at 9 Nicklin Way, Kawana Waters, may give an indication as to the details of the new venture. We are told all will be revealed at a major launch on Wednesday night.
